2008 QUIZ CHAMPIONSHIPS

Qualifying criteria for USPC Quiz Championships:

To be eligible to qualify for USPC Quiz Championships all members (other than H/HA or A) must have competed in a qualifying Quiz rally at the regional level. For a rally to be considered as a qualifying rally it must include the Classroom phase and any three of the four remaining phases – barn, stations, megaroom or written test. Each phase should be a minimum number of rounds as follows- Classroom 3 rounds; Barn 1 complete round in qualifying divisions which is an individual question for each member of the team and 1 team question at the level of the highest rated team member; Stations 5 per qualifying division; Mega Room 5 tables per qualifying division.

In addition, the Old Dominion Region requires that competitors must have placed in the top 35% of their respective division. The following procedure is used to compute the minimum qualifying score for each division: The top score of a division is the start point. Thirty five % of that score is subtracted from that score and the result is the minimum qualifying score needed. For example, if the high point individual in the Junior D division had a score of 100 points, 35% of that score would be 35. $100 - 35 = 65$. The top competitors in the Junior D division who have a total individual score of 65 or above would be eligible for consideration on a regional Junior D team. The team is then selected in order of placing from the first place downward to the first 4 who accept a slot on the regional Junior D team. If there are not 4 members of a division who have met the minimum score required for that division based on the high point individual score then a partial team or individuals to scramble will be entered in that division.

Quiz competitors do not have to commit to their slot on the team until after all riding discipline rallies have been held. The only discipline riding disciplines that D members can qualify in for USPC Championships are Games and Dressage if they are at least a D3 and riding First Level or above. This will mean that at least the "D teams shall be in place by the end of May. For those C members who have qualified for a slot on the Junior or Senior C team I will expect a final commitment at the end of the Show Jumping Rally, if not before.

I hope that this helps to explain the following results. Note that there are more than 4 listed in some divisions and that is because some who qualified may decline a place on the team and we then move down the list of those who placed in the top 35% of that division to field a full 4 man team. In some instances we are asked if we have additional members who have qualified in Quiz to help round out scramble teams from other regions. In those situations I refer back to the Quiz Rally individual placings and go to the next member on that list. As always I am available to answer questions that you may have.
